Here's what's on tap this week on the NOLADrinks Show with Bryan Dias! First off, we welcome the folks with the brand new Top Taco NOLA festival taking place on Thursday, March 23 from 6:30 to 9:30 pm at Riverwalk's Spanish Plaza. It's a first-time event here in New Orleans bringing together various restaurants and others to compete in the categories of best tacos and cocktails! We welcome event producer and owner of Harahan's Nacho Mama's Mexican Grill, Shane Finkelstein, along with Richard Papier of New Orleans' Araña Taqueria y Cantina. We'll talk about the event, it's charitable cause – One Heart NOLA, how you can attend and participate in voting for the people's choice award, and much more! See more on Top Taco NOLA here.

In the second hour, we will chat with Andrew Lohfeld, one of the founders of the new New Orleans-based Roulaison Distilling Co. This rum-focused distiller will host their grand opening event in town this Sunday (March 19.) We'll talk about their interesting approach to rum, how they got started, and taste some of what they're up to! See more on Roulaison here.

You can tune in if you're in town on Thursday (3/16) from 3-5 pm on 990 AM and the podcast will be available here on NOLADrinks.com as well as on iTunes, Google Play Music, and TuneIn Radio on Friday by midday. See more on the NOLADrinks Show with Bryan Dias podcast here...
